party management, and as such openly avowed by Mr. Isauc Bell. Without doubt the other side would have taken the same advantage had The majority been placed in their hands by the absence of the democratic members of the Board. Their opponents have only their own neglect to blame for the explosion of their pet machine and the diversion of the spoils to the democratic crib.

THE TRANSFORMATIONS OF DECAYED POLITI-CIANS.-We have before us a bookseller's pamphlet announcing a forthcoming work, "of what is usually called the supernatural," and bearing the ghostly title of "Footfalls on the Boundary of Another World, by Robert Dale Owen, formerly member of Congress, and American Minister at Naples." The subject is allied to spiritualism, but is addressed to all the various forms of voluntary spiritual manifestations, instead of those evoked by table tip pers, rappers, and other mediums. And so another late prominent, but decayed politician is added to the melancholy list of public mer who have gone over in the flesh to that world of spirits to which Gov. Tallmadge, Gen. Waddy Thompson, Judge Edmonds and a host of others have been carried away.

These transformations may be very natural considering the terrible pressure of doubts and anxieties and astonishing events under which our politicians and public men in these days suffer; but we do not care to dwell upon them We prefer those other and more practical changes of decayed politicians, as exemplified in many cases. Take for example the case of the Chevalier Webb, once the prince of fighting political campaigners, armed to the teeth, and always ready for "coffee and pistols for two." but now one of the most learned and devout expounders of the Protestant Episconal religion. Next, who can fail to admire the happy change in the respective cases of ex-President Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore and Pierce. The first two are among the happiest of gentlemen farmers, and the last two will doubtless be added to the list with the making up of the schedule for the next Presidency. They are still lingering in a transition state; but after June next they will settle down. And so of the three classes of spiritual transformations indicated: while we would admonish all decayfing politicians to beware of the ghostly follieof professional spiritualism, we would recom enend them either to choose the extreme unc tion of the Chevalier Webb or the practical and philosophical life of such sensible men as the venerable Martin Van Buren and the lucky Captain Tyler.

THE TRIUMPH OF COMMON SENSE IN CALIFOR MIA.-We have received by overland mail and telegraph the result of the State election in California, which took place on the 7th ultimo. The returns are partial, but quite sufficient to indicate the general result, and this is significant. The union between the anti-Lecompton democrats and the black republicans has received its first defeat, and it is an overwhelmfing one. Milton S. Latham, the administration candidate, has been elected Governor by twenty thousand majority, and the administration can didates for Congress have also probably tritimphed over their opponents, supported by the united anti-Lecompton and republican vote. Both branches of the Legislature are also reported to be largely democratic. This result shows that the common sense of the people is hostile to the unhallowed union between demagogical politicians, who, having no bond of union but a hankering for office and the spoils have united in one common effort to obtain them, after having fought each other for years Such coalitions must always be hollow, and the object too evident to enable them to blind the good sense of the people. That such has been the case in California the recent election there demonstrates, and it is at the same time : -significant indication of the effects that like causes may produce elsewhere. The politicians do not comprehend the temper of the people. The first gun from California settles the hopes of the Douglas and Forney faction. They have been counting on any quantity of chickens from the anti-Lecompton and black republican union hatch, and lo! not a single speckled back has appeared.

EXTRAORDINARY ACTIVITY OF BUSINESS.—The activity of business generally in this city at the present time is almost without parallel. In every branch of commerce there is a wonderful revival, which leaves the religious excite ments, so called, completely behind. The hotels are filled with strangers; the theatres are crowded nightly; Broadway is a momentarily shifting panorams of crinoline and beauty, intent not only on exhibiting themselves, but in the more agreeable office for the storekeepers, in making purchases; while the streets where the heavier class of business is done are literally blocked up with goods being shipped off to all parts of the continent. If our friends from the country and the provincial cities wish to realize what a great entrepot of commerce New York is, now is their time, for never before, at this or any other season, were business activity and universal prosperity more manifest. As a proof of this we have only to refer to our advertising columns. The story is told there as plain as daylight. We are compelled to issue a triple sheet again to-day to compass our advertising Jusiness, and, from the present aspect of commercial affairs, it seems very likely that we shall have to do so daily before long.

THE MAYORALTY.- There is a great deal of fuss being made in all quarters about the next Mayoralty, and a host of candidates are talked of for the office. The republicans have quite a number in view; Tammany Hall likewise is in the balance between Fowler and Kennedy, but we understand that Fowler has written a letter of Governor Wise proportions, three or four -columns long, declining the nomination, which he is only waiting for an opening in the sky to lay before the public. Let him send it to us and we will publish it some time when the weather is fair and propitious. Then there is Fernando Wood, who threatens to become stump candidate, and we have no doubt that he will present himself. Indeed he has done so already, and may be said to be the only candidate yet fairly in the field.

But all these preparations are premature; the State election is to come off first, and that election is destined to be a novelty-a preliminary to the Presidential contest of 1860. Affair may take a turn at the State election next month not quite expected, and which may upset all the plans and schemes laid down for the charter election. We shall see.

WHAT HAS ECCOME OF THE DEFAULTERS?-From time to time the public is startled with the news of some great defalcation having been discovered in a bank or some of the public offices of the city; arrests are made, investigations are held, and in some cases indictments by the Grand Jury follow, and there the matter seems to end. Now, what becomes of the accused parties in these cases? With the solitary exception of Huntington, the Wall street operator, who is now in Sing Sing doing penance for his crimes, we do not know of a single instance of offenders of that class having due punishment meted out to them; though we will venture to say that if all the defalcations which occur in this city were made public, they would average about one every week in the year. In most of those cases occurring in banks, the affair is hushed up to cover the ignorance, inefficiency and wretched mismanagement of the bank off cers. Take the case of Lane, the Fulton Bank clerk, now in the Tombs : shall we have any more of him? Then in the public departments fraud, we know, has become proverbial; and within the past year the most glaring discove ries have been proclaimed, and in two or three instances, at least, indictments were found against the accused parties. There is Chemung Smith: where is he, and what has become of the indictment found against him? And Charles Devlin, Fitzpatrick, and others: are they never to be called to account for the thousands of dollars of which it is alleged the city treasury has been depleted by their operations?

We think it will be found that in the majority of cases where delinquents are allowed to go scot free, the law officers are not the parties to blame. It is the friends of the accused was arrest the course of justice, to hide ther own ignorance and inefficiency. This con se is a direct encouragement to swindli ..., and should not be permitted. They man e things better in St. Louis. There a defaulting bank officer was convicted some time ago, and sentenced to a long term of imprisonment in the penitentiary. We want a little of the sharp practice of St. Louis very badly in New York. THE EVANGELIZATION DODGE.—We are said to be a shrewd people, and able to take care of our own. The facility with which we are gulled out of our money for quasi-religious purposes is an evidence to the contrary. Fre quently as the true character of the appeals made to us for the conversion of the distant heathen, or of the impossible Jew, has been exposed, we are always ready to fall into the same trap when it presents itself. There is a delegation here just now sending around the hat for the evangelization of the Irish, and we are told that it is gathering in a plentiful harvest of pious contributions. The reverend gentlemen composing it are, we understand, apostles of the jovial order, pleasant to look upon and pleasant to listen to. They amuse their audiences with humorous stories about the superstitiousness and credulity of Paddy, and relate marvels of the results effected amongst them by the efforts of Protestant missionaries. Is there no one to be found amongst their hearers to ask them how it happens that, with a State church, a State provision for its clergy, and State proselytizing institutions, the Catholics of Ireland should still number in relation to the Protestant portion of the population as seven to one. Why, with these advantages, all powerful for the purposes of conversion amongst the ignorant and credulous, have they not succeeded, after several centuries, in turning the scale in favor of Protestantism? It may well be said of such a religious system and of such propagandists,

If trees be cropped because their fruit is small, What's due to it that bears no fruit at all.

AN OLD SPORTSMAN AT FAULT .- We see that the Hon. Grantley Berkeley is as much embarrassed with the packs of hounds which he brought out with him from England as was the man in Bagdad with the elephant that was made a present to him. The honorable gentleman belongs to a family more distinguished for their sporting knowledge than for their prudence. It is somewhat singular that on a subject on which he might be presumed to be well informed he should be betrayed into the mistake of burthening himself with such an equipment for our backwoods and prairies. The hunting dogs which are trained for the English preserves will be of about as much use there as a King Charles would be in a rat hunt. We can ima gine the figure which the honorable gentleman will cut in a chase after buffalo with a pack of beagles at his heels.

As an old sportsman and as a contributor to the London Field, Mr. Berkeley should have known better than this. Works on American field sports are not so rare or so inaccessible in England that he might not have ascertained something of the new ground that he was venturing upon. Several members of the aristo cratic class to which he belongs have hunted over the regions which he is about to visit, and could have enlightened him as to their require ments. None of them thought of encumbering themselves with top boots, red coats or fox hounds, as they prudently ascertained beforehand that there were no natives in those parts to astonish. For men like Sir William Drummond Stewart, Sir George Gore, Lord Robert Grosvenor, and the Hon. F. Cavendish, the experience and equipments of the old prairie hunters were quite sufficient. It has been reserved for a sexagenarian Bond street dandy to astonish the American sporting world by these droll innovations, and to render himself as famous as his prototype Briggs, of Punch cele-

If the object of the London Field in sending out Mr. Berkeley as its representative Nimrod was to gain notoriety and circulation, it must be owned that it could not have hit on a better man for its purpose. We will venture a round wager that his adventures will be read with far greater eagerness than were ever those of Gordon Cumming or the French lion-killer, Gerard To follow the perilous career through the Ame rican wilds of the hero of May Fair and the pet of Belgravia will assuredly be a far greater treat to the lovers of the piquant than the cock and bull stories of professional sportsmen.

THE NEW CONGRESS-THE HOUSE ORGANIZA-TION.—The Southern opposition papers are beginning to take a hand in the discussion of the organization of the new House of Representatives in December next, and they are beginning to make their overtures for a coalition with the republicans. We presume, however, that upon the basis of the spoils and plunder which will be involved in said organization Speaker, Clerk, Printer, standing committees, select committees, &c., equal, perhaps, to three millions of formight.

dollars, and considering the absolute control of all the government appropriations which the control of the House will secure—that the democrats will be on hand as well as the republicans with their terms to the anti-Lecompton faction and the Southern opposition members Thus we may anticipate a most interesting struggle; and though the republicans have the advantage of numbers to begin with, the issue is by no means certain to be in their favor. Seward's "irrepressible conflict" stan l in their way; and it is not probable that they can secure the necessary recruits to command a majority, even upon the basis of the spoils, without some concession upon slavery difficult to make. In a word, upon the test question of that "irrepressible conflict" the republicans may be defeated. Let the democrats, therefore, buckle on their armor and put in their bids for the anti-Lecompton men and the Southern opposition party. They who suppose that this game of the House organization is already in the hands of the republicans are widely mistaken.

Mezart Hall PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

The adherents to the Mozart Hall dynasty of the democracy met in their several ward districts last night, for the purpose of electing by ballot five persons from each ward to a Judicial and Supervisors' Convention, to nominate such candidates for judicial officers and Super visors as are to be voted for at the ensuing election; five persons from each ward to a Senatorial Convention; de egates to the Assembly District Conventions, and five persons as a Ward Nominating Convention to nominate candidates for inspectors and canvassers of election for each district. Of course the election was a "blind," as the "slate" was made up by the "owner" of the committee nearly one week ago. The "election" passed of quietty, and the candidates were elected unanimously. It must be remembered, however, that the Mezart Hall party is quite a new organization, and they have not yet learned the Tammany Hall factics of fighting an election battle by the employment of shoulder hitters, bruisers, &c. in consequence of which we are spared the unpleasant duty of reporting the fracture of sandry heads and the dislocation of an untold number of noses. persons as a Ward Nominating Convention to nominat

MEETING OF THE WHIG GENERAL COMMITTEE-NO OFFICERS TO BE NOMINATED EXCEPT

There was another ghostly gathering of the spectres of the quondam great, but now totally defunct, whig party held last evening in one of the spacious parlors of Thorp's Hotel, at the corner of Broadway and Eighth street. Onof our reporters visited the place where it was announced the unearthly orgies would take place, and found only s few dozen sprites assembled up to the hour of nin o'clock. As the minutes flew, however, the members o the supernatural remnant of whiggery, yelept the Whig General Committee, dropped in one after another, until finally there was a pretty fair show in convention. The spectres were fine portly looking specimens certainly, and looked quite human to the mere eye, as they glided in and out, in solemn mystery. But any one posted as our reporter was, in close proximity to the keyhole, might have beard sundry hollow sounds and sepulchral noises, which would see a sundry hollow sounds and sepulchral noises, have heard sundry hollow sounds and sepulchral noises which would soon dispel the idea that those within were fliving, moving, huntan comps. "living, moving, hunfan verage."

A few minutes after nine o'clock Hiram Ketchum, Esq., grand spectre in chief, took the chair, and Messrs. Robert C. Guire and John P. Dodge assumed their position as

C. curre and some the meeting was the consideration of the report of the committee of nine respecting the propriety of nominating a State ticket. Frederick A Tallmadge, ex-Recorder, ex-Superintendent of Police, &c. as chairman of the committee, handed in the report. Tallimadge, ex. Recorder, ex. Superintendent of Police, &c., as chairman of the committee, handed in the report, which declared it inexpedient to nominate candidates to fill the State offices to be vacant after the first of next January but recommended every whig elector to exercise the "strictest scrutiny" in voting for the noninees of other parties. If there were any poor sanguine ghosts of whigs in the room, who entertained the hope that there was a chance of the resurrection of their party, this report put an effectual quietus on them. Apparently none of the spectres had cherished the vain delusion, for all acquiesced in the recommendations of the report. Mr. Tallimadge himself speke strongly in favor of it; J. De Peyster Ogdon, ditto, ex. Mayor Kingsland, ditto; James Brooks, ditto, and the illustrious John Briggs, the famous Alderman of "Little-libustrious John Briggs, the famous Alderman of "Littleillustrious John Briggs, the famous Alderman of "Little Georgey" Matsell-nativity-ferretting-out notoriety, stood up for the report as sturdily as he ever did for dark lan-ternism.

It would seem, however, that the General Commit-tee have an eye directed towards the United States Sena-torship, for while opposing other State nominations, they have resolved to set up candidates for the Senate, and have appointed committees to organize properly for the campaign. Three members from each Senatorial distric were selected to make all necessary preparations.

Having transacted this amount of business the spectres slowly separated, and silence reigned again.

Lecture by Prof. L. S. Chatfield at the

New York University.

At eight o'clock yesterday evening the students of the Law Department and other persons, in all numbering about one hundred, assembled in the chapel on the se-cond floor of the New York University for the purpose of pearing a lecture from Prof. L. S. Chatfield.

The following gentlemen were seated on the stand:-Judges Roosevelt and Clerke, of the Supreme Court; Mr Hawley, Prof. Wedgeworth, Secretary to the Faculty; the Hawley, Prof. Wedgeworth, Secretary to the Faculty; the Chancellor, Isaac Ferris and Prof. Cutter.

The exercises of the evening were opened by the reading of the 19th Psalm by the Chancellor, the Rev. Isaac Ferris.

The Psalm was followed by the offering up of prayer. The Chancellor then introduced Prof. Chatfield.

After the usual apologies for inability, &c., the Professor remarked, to such institutions as the Law Department of the University we must look for the elevation of the national character. He then criticised lengthily and warmly the prominent characteristic of the present age in this country—a greed for gain—and said, it is by such institutions as this that we are enabled to wipe the Yaukee nutmeg from our escutcheons.

country—a greed for gain—and said, it's by such institutions as this that we are enabled to wipe the Yankee numeg from our escutcheons.

America has long since understood that the school house is the best safeguard against the poor house and prison. He then spoke of the past of the law department.
It was once started by such names as Kent, Butler and Graham, but the attempt was prematere. Certainly it was not for want of capacity. He then spoke in eulogistic terms of Professor Wedgeworth and John J. Johnsten, to whom the department was indebted for his noble gift of the valuable library, properly called the Johnston Library. He then dwelt upon the importance of law, quoting instances and proofs from history, ancient and modern. Previously to enlarging on this heading, he dwelt upon the law as a science and an acquisition to a polite education. No education is complete without the study of the law. These halls should be thrown open and the public invited to attend the lectures. If you would elevate national character educate the people. There is an army of young men growing up in this country, objectless, idle and profligate. These young men should become our judges, our physicians and our divines. They have means, opportunities and time. Let them come here and learn the law. He finally delivered some very wholesome advice to young lawyers, (unnecessary to mention, here tofore seldom followed) such as "Never spend your clients money;" "Thou shalt not lie," &c., &c.,

Mr. Hanley, who was in attendance on the stand, was to deliver an address, but the Chancellor amounced that it would be postpened till next Thursday on account of want of time.

So admirable a performance as that of Mr. Burton in Captain Cuttle will always be fresh to those who can appreciate a thoroughly good artistic creation.
